DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed 2/3/2005 fails to fully comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(3) because it does not include a concise explanation of the relevance, as it is presently understood by the individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information, of each patent listed that is not in the English language. An explanation of relevance or translation has not been provided for reference (G 93 10 536). It has been placed in the application file, but the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 3-4, and 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Steele (US 7,265,663).

Claim 1: Steele discloses a system for computer assisted driving lessons, for installation in a vehicle used for instructions, comprising an electronic processing unit for display, control, recording and storage of data, a first camera 220 directed forward in a driving direction, a second camera 220 directed at a pupils eyes as well as recording situations behind the vehicle, a microphone 267, a sensor giving position data 272 (See Fig. 3), wherein the processing unit is being arranged for synchronous recording and storing signals from the cameras, the microphone and the sensor in pre-defined time intervals at pre-defined positions along a driving route. See Col. 2, lines 24-25; Fig 5.

Claim 3: Steele discloses a trip meter. See Fig. 5, lap distance.

Claim 4: Steele discloses a Global Positioning System receiver 240. See Fig. 3.

Claim 7: Steele discloses a method for computer assisted driving lessons, comprising displaying picture/video-sequences from pre-defined time intervals in pre-defined positions along a pre-defined route as preparation before driving occurs (See Col. 9, lines 7-22, pre-ride educational materials), when driving to record video signals from the same pre-defined route, and after a driving trip displaying the signals recorded during the trip in said pre-defined time intervals in said pre-defined positions. See Col. 9, lines 23-54.

Claim 8: Steele discloses manually entering electronic marks at points of particular interest when driving, and after the trip displaying the signals recorded during a pre-defined time interval at said points of particular interest. See Col. 2, lines 24-25; Fig 5.

Claim 9: Steele disclose a video camera 220 pointing in a driving direction. See fig. 3.

Claim 10: Steele discloses a video camera pointing in a rearward direction, and also recording the eyes of the person driving. See Fig. 3.

Claim 11: Steele discloses that the signals are recorded continuously during the trip. See Col. 2, lines 18-25.

Art Unit: 3714

Claim 12: Steele discloses that signals are recorded in said pre-defined time intervals at said pre-defined positions, and when an electronic mark has been entered. Col. 2, lines 18-25.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 2 and 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Steele (US 7,265,663).

Steele discloses all of the claimed subject matter with the exception of explicitly disclosing (as per claim 2) a sensor measuring the distance to a vehicle in front; (as per claim 5) compressing recorded signals prior to storage; and (as per claim 6) providing a scorecard. However, the examiner takes official notice that these features are old and well known, and therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the driver training system and method described in Steele with these features.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure:

Kochler et al. (US 2002/0138587) – discloses a race event monitoring device.
